

SPERRY GLACIER TABLE

Assignment: Design a piece of furniture that tells a story.

October 2022

This table is based on the melting and receding of Sperry Glacier located in Glacier National Park, Montana. With this project I wanted to showcase the effects of global warming over a certain period of time – I feel that visual and set examples of climate change can be a more convincing argument. Glaciers are one of the most tangible examples of global warming with years of evidence and documentation.
